

Plant Pot Bookends

A classic terracotta plant pot split in half.

Create unique living bookends that hold your favourite novels between potted foliage - Just add plants. Brighten up your bookshelf with this clever two-part planter. The bookends appear to be one traditional plant-pot, cut in half. Two metal L-plates discreetly support the books and hold the planters in place, so they won't fall over or spill any soil. When your plants get thirsty, simply slide the terracotta pot up from the metal base for mess-free watering. The best gift for book-smart botanists.
