Interlocking Cactus Coasters

Construct cacti out of drinks mats.

- Set of six interlocking drinks mats.
- Construct endless cactus combinations.
- Made from natural durable bamboo fibre.
- Non-toxic, waterproof & heat resistant.
- Biodegradable - eco-friendly.

A colourful, fun, and functional addition to your surfaces. The set of six coasters help to protect your table tops, and when not in use you can slot the mats together to create different shaped cacti or store them away safely inside the traditional style plant pot. The material is hard wearing, water and heat resistant, and best of all made from bamboo fibre which is a more eco-friendly material than many alternatives. Ideal for the thirsty plant lover.

Interlocking Cactus Coasters

An idea by Clive Roddy made by Suck UK

Clive Roddy is a designer and maker based in a small rural village near Bath, UK. He has a genuine love for products and has been relentlessly designing and making things for over a decade. Clive's overwhelming compulsion to make new products has led him to focus the majority of his spare time on design projects. He is most likely to be found tinkering away in his workshop, where he is happiest! He believes in developing simple ideas to create remarkable designs that capture a sense of fun and originality. He aspires to produce the perfect balance of unusual yet desirable products, exquisitely made from the highest quality materials. Clive has now sold his work all over the world (he is still flabbergasted by this!)
