TV Lunch Box

With super lenticular animation technology!

- Portable TV metal lunch box.
- Big Capacity for a large lunch.
- In the style of a '80s retro set.
- Animated Lenticular Screen.

A classic tin lunch box disguised as a super cool retro TV set. Be entertained as you enjoy your lunch with the lenticular printed screen which features an animated cat and mouse duo. Big enough for a good size packed lunch and fun enough for both kids and adults.

An idea by Nick Forrester made by Suck UK

SUCK UK LTD
https://www.suck.uk.com/products/tv-lunchbox/
Camden Park Studio, Camden Park Road, London NW1 9AY

TV Lunch Box

An idea by Nick Forrester made by Suck UK

Nick (aka Fozz) is Staffordshire born and raised but now lives and works here in London. He is obsessed with design in all forms and regularly attends exhibitions, galleries, and trade shows for fun, with his yearly highlight being Dutch Design Week. From finishing University with a First in Product Design, he now works for us at Suck UK as a Product Developer, but still submits his ideas with the hope of getting them produced. Some of Nick's designs include; UFO Storage Jar, Send a Sound, TV Lunch Box, and My Gardening Handbook which was inspired from his experience in Horticulture and Arboriculture. Gaining knowledge and inspiration from anything and everything, who knows what he'll come up with next.

www.forr.co.uk